THE $100,000 Australian Premier League kicks off on November 19 and watching all the country's top bowlers in style will be Merriwa members, Liz and Frank Kuipers.

Solargain, sponsors of Perth Suns, one of the six star-studded teams, ran a competition in the Jack High magazine for an all-expenses paid trip to Brisbane's Pine Rivers club.

Frank, himself thought it was a prank call when he answered the telephone on Friday lunchtime.

'I thought it was either a joke or someone trying to sell me solar panels, which I already have. When I realised it was genuine I could not believe my luck,' said Frank. 'All I had to do was enter my name, phone number and my bowls club on the company website- as simple as that.'

'It's a fantastic prize. Apart from watching the bowls from Solargain's hospitality box, we will be staying in a 'king-size' apartment.'

The Premier League (November 19-22) is bowls' equivalent of Twenty/20 cricket. Taking part are the Sydney Lions, Brisbane Gold, Melbourne Roys, NZ Blackjacks, Adelaide Endurance and Perth Suns.

The tournament, described in the publicity blurb as 'adrenaline-fuelled', is being covered live on Fox Sports and is a pairs competition involving three players, two on the green and one sub, who can alternate at any time.

It starts off in groups and switches to a knock out format for the finals.

Since the news Frank has suddenly become the most popular member of the club but, despite several free drinks, he is adamant... he will be taking his wife!

Frank celebrated by being part of the sole winning rink at Yanchep yesterday.
